February 2007 – Show 26

This month on Student DV...

Pershing Elementary School student teach us about rules.

Bannon Creek Elementary School show us a little about railroad history

And Genevive Didion Elementary School presents a documentary on activist Dolores Huerta

Si Se Puede

As part of National History Month, students at Genevive Didion Elementary School produced videos on a variety of topics relating to history. One of these videos was about the life and causes of Dolores Huerta, a woman who worked with Cesar Chavez to help gain rights for migrant farm workers in California. In this documentary, student producer Michael Cohen got the chance to interview Herta and her daughter, and find out what she is doing to further her cause.
